

Charlie Hebdo: Where Neocons, Zionists, Masons and Communists Converge

BY KERRY R. BOLTON

Charlie Hebdo* (CH) came out of the New Left milieu of the 1960s and is a product of the 1968 revolt against President Charles de Gaulle. It happens that the most famous of the New Left revolts came at a time when (1) the CIA was sponsoring anti-Soviet New Left student organizations and other non-Soviet Left-wing endeavors throughout the world;<sup>1</sup> (2) President de Gaulle was pursuing a course independent of U.S. foreign policy.<sup>2</sup> The New Left was used in the USA dialectally to cause a general shift of thinking leftward, which would seem “conservative” in comparison to the Hippies and Yippies running rampant on campuses and in the streets.<sup>3</sup> Charlie Hebdo, raising the banner of revolt, has always regurgitated precisely what the “system” required.

---

Kerry R Bolton is a Fellow of the Academy of Social and Political Research (Athens), and the Institute for Higher Studies on Geopolitics and Auxiliary Sciences (Lisbon). He has doctorates in theological studies, Ph.D. h.c. and certifications in psychology and social work studies. He has been widely published by the scholarly and wider media on a variety of subjects.

Foreign Policy Journal, January 27, 2015

Liberal Double Standards

While pontificating about “free speech”, criticism of Israel was not tolerated, and any manifestation of the Nationalist Right was regarded as requiring state repression. Charlie Hebdo advocates the “liberalism” of the Jacobins, the argument of the guillotine, figuratively, if not literally. They try to titillate the “educated” classes of France with an illustration of Jesus sodomising God,<sup>4</sup> and other such puerilities on a weekly basis.

Never did they campaign in favor of genuine “heretics”, such as those who questioned the Holocaust, who are heavily repressed in France. Never did they respond to the cause of the continuously vilified, constantly prosecuted, and physically beaten Dr. Robert Faurisson. The former professor of literature at the University of Lyon, removed for his heresy, whose questioning on the matter of the gas chambers at least had the support of socialist-libertarian Serge Thion in France and in the USA of Dr. Noam Chomsky, on the basis of free enquiry.<sup>5</sup> But Chomsky is a rare breed of Leftist intellectual. Most of the CH types the world over believe in free speech only as far as it aligns with their own dogmas. CH served as a mouthpiece for the ideology of the world system in a convergence of Grand Orient politicized Freemasonry, economic liberalism, Jacobinism, Zionism, and Marxism. It is this type of convergence, during the Cold War, under CIA auspices, from which the neocons emerged. A similar process has resulted in parts of the French Left taking a neocon course, Islamophobic, in the name of “universal values,” to the point of supporting U.S. (and Israeli) policies. They are like the Trotskyite luminaries during the Cold War, including Trotsky’s widow, Sedova, Max Schachtman, et al, who ended up being avid champions of the USA.

Charlie Hebdo actively campaigned to repress those with whom they disagreed; i.e. those who represented any genuine revolt against the status quo. Hence, in 2013, when the French Government banned a small group of the Nationalist Right after the death of a young “antifa” anarchist, Clément Méric, in a fight which he began,

CH also called for the banning of the Front National (FN), a major political party. In a petition to parliament CH insisted that the FN was in breach of the Jacobin ideology of “The Declaration of the Rights of Man and the Citizen,” which forms the basis of the French Constitution. Therefore, CH does not support the existence of any doctrine or party that advocates anything contrary to neo-Jacobinism. Charlie Hebdo addressed their petition to French president François Hollande. They stated:

The Front National is in blatant contradiction with at least five articles of the Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen, which constitute the preamble to the Constitution of the French people. ... We ask you to dissolve the Front National, this league whose aim is to bring about the end of the French Republic.<sup>6</sup>

While the French political and intellectual Establishment mobilized the masses in an inane act of supposed defiance against Islamism in the name of modern Europe’s Jacobin values, at the same time Dieudonné Mbala Mbala, France’s most popular comedian, was arrested for “being an apologist for terrorism.” He had posted on Facebook: “Tonight, as far as I’m concerned, I feel like Charlie Coulibaly;” a play on words “Je Suis Charlie,” the banal phrase supplied to the masses to show solidarity with Charlie Hebdo. Mbala however used the name of one of the gunman, Amédée Coulibaly.<sup>7</sup>

In 2002, Philippe Val, then editor in chief, denounced Dr. Noam Chomsky for his criticism of Israel, U. S. foreign policy, and the mainstream media. In 2008 Charlie Hebdo cartoonist Siné commented on a news item that President Sarkozy’s son Jean was converting to Judaism to marry the heiress of an appliance chain that “He’ll go far, this lad.” Val dismissed Siné for this quip on the grounds of “anti-Semitism.”

Charlies

Apparently, we are all Charlies now, the latest cliché of globalism for the masses, “Je Suis Charlie.” As one would expect, the depraved and the stupid at the Golden Globe Awards fulsomely embraced the mania, as is appropriate for the Hollywood purveyors of culture-pathology. “Charlie” in Anglophone lingo is slang for idiot or fool. It is apt that the masses of booboisie should march through the streets of Paris and elsewhere holding the slogan aloft, fantasizing that what they are doing by falling in line requires the slightest modicum of thought or courage.

Charlie Hebdo was founded in February 1969 as the successor to Hara-Kiri magazine, founded in 1960. The first editor of CH was François Cavanna. He was succeeded in 1992 by Philippe Val who had relaunched CH in 1991 with Cavanna, Delfeil de Ton, and Georges Wolinski.

Wolinski, one of those killed on January 7, was a Tunisian-born Jew who co-founded the satirical magazine L'Enragé during the 1968 New Left revolt of the banal. Among subsequent journals, including editorship of Hari-kiri, he wrote for the Leftist newspaper Libération. As will be shown later, his cartoons were in particular use by the Communist newspaper L'Humanité. Another Libération colleague on CH was Dutch cartoonist Bernard Willem Holtrop. Renaud Pierre Manuel Séchan who became known as a singer and songwriter with “Crève salope!” due to its popularity among the '68 revolvers, was a founding shareholder of CH.

Of the present brouhaha about “free speech” and the liberal values of France and indeed the entire “West,” Olivier Cyran, a former Charlie, perceptively commented in 2006 about the CH editor's conception of freedom:

The trouble is that this right so abundantly spread by the director of Charlie Hebdo is only for himself and those who think like him. His former employees of

Charlie know something: in case of divergence, the Enlightenment suddenly turns to despotism.<sup>8</sup>

“Enlightenment suddenly turns to despotism” is an apt description of Jacobinism and subsequent attempts at “liberty, equality, fraternity,” the slogan of the Grand Orient de France, whether under The Communist Manifesto, Woodrow Wilson’s Fourteen Points, or the U.N. Charter.

Cyran gives the example of Philippe Corcuff, who was pushed out of CH for not supporting Islamophobia with sufficient zeal. In 2000 Mona Chollet was fired for objecting to Val’s reference to Palestinians as “uncivilized.”<sup>9</sup> Val also had his employees spied on to determine their loyalty.<sup>10</sup> It is all so very Liberal, Jacobin, Bolshevik, Zionist; take your pick. Cyran speaks with experience. He worked for CH during 1992-2001, but quit because of the dictatorial character and corrupt promotion practices of Val. In 2013 he wrote to the editor Charbonnaire (“Charb”) and to Fabrice Nicolino<sup>11</sup> that CH had made France “a nastier place to live.”<sup>12</sup>

It was Val who sacked Siné for supposed “anti-Semitism,” although a case for wrongful dismissal was won against CH in 2010. For services rendered, Val was appointed in 2005 as director of France Inter, part of Radio France.

In 2006 Val co-signed a statement with Bernard Henri-Levy<sup>13</sup> and ten others, published in L’Express, stating:

After having overcome Fascism, Nazism and Stalinism, the world now faces a new global threat of a totalitarian nature: Islamism. We—writers, journalists, and intellectuals—call for resistance against religious totalitarianism to promote freedom, equal opportunities and secular values for all.<sup>14</sup>

The conflation of Stalinism with Fascism and Nazism and those with Islamism is classic Trotskyism, promoted by neocons, such as ex-Trotskyite, Jewish convert to Sufism and “libertarian,” Stephen Schwartz.

The manifesto was a call to oppose the Islamic reaction to the cartoon of Muhammad appearing in Denmark in 2005, CH style; a calculated provocation in Jyllands-Posten, whose cultural editor was neocon Zionist Fleming Rose, now the newspaper's foreign affairs editor. Shortly later, Rose went to the USA to interview neocon luminaries Francis Fukuyama, Bill Kristol, Richard Perle, and Professor Bernard Lewis, enthusiasts for Israel who have had a major influence over U.S. foreign policies.

In 2006 Olivier Cyran wrote that the re-publication of the Danish cartoons in a special issue of CH entitled "freedom of expression" was a "masterstroke" as a "publicity stunt." On February 8 sales records had been broken with 400,000 copies of CH sold.<sup>15</sup> Cyran quoted Pascal Boniface, director of the Institute of International and Strategic Relations, stating of Val that he is a "seller" of the U.S. neocon ideology.

Cyran stated also of Val:

Sharon and Bush are his positive heroes, those who dare to criticize him are complicit with terrorists. In the great battle of ideas which we are witnessing, Val is an important element. The ironic tone of newspaper cartoons allows him to sell the neo-conservative [sic] ideology contained in his editorials to an electorate that would not naturally lean in that direction."<sup>16</sup>

Grand Orient Masonry

The Grand Orient de France (GODF) has for several centuries been a real power in France and other European states and sees itself as the custodian both of the French Republic and of "secular Europe." While the claim might be rubbished as "conspiracy theory", the Grand Orient not only in France, but also among its affiliates elsewhere, are quite open in stating their influence over European politics.<sup>17</sup> Indeed, candidates for the presidency (excepting the FN candidate) are called to present themselves to the GODF to explain their positions.<sup>18</sup>

Among the dead on January 7 were two brother Masons of the Grand Orient de France. The Grand Orient has posted:

Two of the journalists assassinated in the cowardly and barbarous attack on Charlie Hebdo were Freemasons. Bro Bernard Maris, economic columnist at CH, and Bro Michel Renaud, formerly of Europe 1 and Le Figaro, were both active Freemasons in the Grand Orient, Bernard in Roger Leray Lodge in Paris and Michel in Lux Perpetue Lodge in Clermont Ferrand. They died representing the values we stand for ...<sup>19</sup>

The Grand Orient connection is expected. The Jacobin Revolution unleashed upon France in 1789 was the culmination of decades of Masonic plotting, based on the “universal values” promoted by Charlie Hebdo, and now bizarrely called “neo-conservative.” It is pure neo-Jacobinism, and the USA is the custodian of its world revolution. While the smug might dismiss this as conspiracy theory, the Grand Orient is openly proud of its Jacobin heritage and most political candidates (other than those of the FN) are invited to explain their position to the GODF Brothers. Indeed, the Grand Orient has officially identified the CH doctrine as their creed, and joined with the mass demonstration of solidarity organized by Hollande. The GODF stated:

The Grand Orient of France was present yesterday evening in the Republic Square to share the emotion of thousands of anonymous who came to express their support for the silent struggle of Charlie Hebdo. All were not Charlie readers but all were aware that Charlie is one of the standard bearers of democracy to which we are attached and for which Charlie journalists fought every day without ever escaping the risks that for that they had agreed to incur. Yes, they were all resistant to a faceless war on terror claims to impose abject and cowardly. In these circumstances, I would first like to emphasize the powerful outpouring of compassion expressed by members of our Obedience of all backgrounds who have expressed excitement but also their willingness to mobilize so that we, the living, be worthy of those who were the victims of this blind barbarism<sup>20</sup>.

The Masonic martyrdom has been used by the GODF to galvanize Masons. A special meeting for January 12 at the Arthur Groussier Temple, was called by the GODF Grand Master, Daniel Keller, to unify “the thinking that must be ours on the values that we must promote in the light of the tragedy that has befallen our country.” Moreover the GODF Foundation is helping to fund CH to ensure that it continues beyond its hitherto fringe existence. The Masonic declaration reads:

1. The Grand Orient will participate in a spirit of Masonic unity alongside all liberal and non-dogmatic Obediences, at the Republican event taking place Sunday. The place and time of the meeting will be provided as it becomes available.
2. The Council invites the brothers and sisters of the Obedience to take part in a special event Monday, January 12th at 19h at Arthur Groussier temple to federate the thinking that must be ours on the values that we must promote in the light of the tragedy that has befallen our country.
3. The Foundation will appeal initially to donors who wish to show their solidarity with Charlie Hebdo to ensure the financial sustainability of the newspaper. The Foundation will of course listen to any other initiative that the newspaper could take in this direction.

4. In addition to these actions of immediate support, it is essential that the commitment of GODF against all fanaticism, dogmatism, fundamentalism and communalism is more than ever at the heart of our work and our actions externalizing. To say that the barbarism will not pass is not enough, we must also unite a broad citizen movement to assert and defend on the ground republican principles, democratic and secular, unshakable foundations of our society. As such, the events devoted to debunking Anti-Masonry will be throughout the year as a messenger. Citizens, they are supposed to promote dialogue but they take enhanced sharpness in the current circumstances.

5. Finally, it is suggested in the extension of the national day of mourning that day that Loges open their future work with a minute of silence.<sup>21</sup>

A GODF program has been built around the CH shootings including a call to man the figurative barricades in defense of republicanism as they did at the literal barricades of 1789, and the revolts of the 19th century. Keller writes of “barbarism” as though CH stood for anything but the most pathological of the decaying West’s sickness. To the GODF Brothers illustrations of Jesus sodomising God, Cardinals in a chain of buggery, and so forth, would be a titillating delight at smearing the Church they have always sought to destroy.

The excessive sentiments of support among the befuddled French booboisie, mobilized by President Hollande, and joined by his fellow European Union leaders, in the name of a particularly banal form of “free speech,” have enabled CH to be promoted as the flagship of the “clash of civilizations.” It has enabled CH to be seen as the defender of what the “West” really now stands for.

U.S. Support

Hence, the National Endowment for Democracy (NED), the globalist version of the Comintern, but far more subversive, issued “a statement of solidarity with the people of France.”<sup>22</sup>

Marie Harf, speaking for the U.S. State Department, declared that the U.S. “absolutely supports” CH.<sup>23</sup> However, the USA has gone much further and actively promoted CH. Harf condemned a Turkish court for blocking internet sites from publishing the CH cartoon of Muhammad, and she also condemned Turkish government officials for their criticism of the CH cartoon as a provocation.<sup>24</sup>

With expressions of support from Government leaders from all over the European Union, the USA, and GODF, the stage is set to launch CH from a fringe magazine with a circulation of 60,000 into a significant mouthpiece of the globalist establishment. CH will now be subsidized by the French Government with a $1.2 million donation; Google $296,000; Guardian Media Group $150,000. The plan is to print 1,000,000 copies.<sup>25</sup> It seems fairly certain that NED will also turn on the money taps.

Google is one of the primary founders and funders of the Alliance of Youth Movements, a project working in tandem with the U.S. State Department, Council on Foreign Relations, Department of Homeland Security, foundations, and corporations, and major TV media. The purpose is to utilize social media to mobilize youth in states targeted for destruction by the globalist elite. They were particularly evident in the “Arab Spring,” and base their tactics on what was learnt from the ‘color revolutions’ in the former Soviet bloc, promoted by NED, the Soros foundations, etc. Establishment revolutionary Jared Cohen, director of Google Ideas, a CFR member and former State Department staffer, is a co-founder.<sup>26</sup>

Libération and Rothschild

The million-run CH is being printed courtesy of the Leftist newspaper, Libération, whose offices CH staff are using. The CH staff could use Liberation facilities “as long as they needed,” stated the newspaper’s editor, Lauretn Joffrin.<sup>27</sup> The principal shareholder and chairman of Libération is Baron Édouard de Rothschild, who has lived in Israel since 2010.<sup>28</sup>

Libération was founded in 1968 by extreme Left philosopher Jean Paul Sartre and Maoist journalist Serge July. Eduard de Rothschild outlines his close family connections with Israel, pointing out that the “family projects” have included the Knesset and the Supreme Court building.<sup>29</sup> Laurent Joffrin (born Lawrence Fink), was installed in 2006 as part of a recovery plan initiated by Eduard de Rothschild to save the failing newspaper.<sup>30</sup> Joffrin was a member of the Foundation Saint-Simon (existing 1982-1999)<sup>31</sup> which, like other globalist think tanks such as NED, united Leftist intellectuals with plutocrats, and was committed to economic liberalism. The founder, Francois Furet, after breaking with the Communist Party, did not conceal his connections with the CIA. The Foundation was run in similar manner and purpose to the Cold War era Congress for Cultural Freedom, set up by the CIA to utilize anti-Soviet Trotskyites and other Leftists.<sup>32</sup> It was part of the Hague Club, founded in 1971, which is composed of a network of Europe’s think tanks and Foundations,<sup>33</sup> who meeting annually to decide the fate of Europe. A part of this “European” network is the Rockefeller foundation.

Communist Party

While plans were underway to make CH a journal of significance, the funeral of the late editor, “Charb,” was conducted to the tunes of L’Internationale, as clenched fists were raised, while speakers exhorted the crowd to defend the Republic.<sup>34</sup> L’Humanite, newspaper of France’s Communist Party, editorialized of their CH “comrades”:

No words can name the horrible attack perpetrated yesterday in the middle of Paris, eliminating our friends, our comrades at Charlie Hebdo, one by one, in cold blood during a conference. A newspaper, its journalists, its cartoonists were shot down by forces of terror. Others were wounded. Faced with these militants, they only had their pens to defend themselves.

Families will be in bereavement forever. We provide them assurance of our compassion, our solidarity. Beyond the death of our comrades, it is an attack against intelligence, the act of creating, and the right to think. Against freedom and democracy, as was the case in our history's darkest and most tragic hours. Terror and death are the weapons wielded against fraternity, culture, debate, and any inclination to free oneself from a reactionary and obscurantist project. This we must admit.

The targets are the Republic, its values, history, enlightenment, and secularism. This is a republic of tolerance, of respect for the other. No matter what you think, Charlie Hebdo's writing, drawings, and caricatures reveal hidden faces of this world's turpitude and its agents. To be able to publish these things as well as to dispute their contents is an integral part of the democratic debate. A united Republic must immediately express its views with the strength and dignity required under these circumstances. We will support any initiative which will allow united, assembled citizens this form of expression. ...

Dear George Wolinski, Cabu, Charb, Tignous, Honoré, and all the others, we cry for you and we will never forget you, faithful to the subversive power of your art which cost you your life. This terrible drama and these lives that were stolen away command us to defend the values of freedom, tolerance, fraternity and equality every step of the way. In these tragic hours, in a context where tension keeps mounting, the Republic, indivisible, tolerant, secular, and social, must become more tenacious than ever. It must resist and face up to these cowards and these barbarians.<sup>35</sup>

Self-described “British communist journalist” Nick Wright commented on the Le Hyarick editorial, “There have always been strong links between L’Humanité and Charlie Hebdo with the cartoons, especially by Wolinski, often appearing in the paper and with a regular presence at the annual fete.” The close relationship between L’Humanité and CH was described by the French communists:

Most of the cartoons published by l’Humanité are by Charlie’s cartoonists. We followed the same path in work, and in friendship. They are one of us. A long companionship has grown, over the years, between the teams of Charlie Hebdo and of l’Humanité. Its conductor was Charb, communist, insolent, and a rigorous professional, who obtained from his crew of rebels the delivery, flawless and on time, of the cartoon that enlivens our daily’s last page. Jul, Luz, Babouze, and Charb himself never missed the weekly appointments, nor did Coco and Besse, who draw for l’Humanité Dimanche. On the eve of the Fête de l’Humanité, one year, Charlie’s editorial team took over the entire iconography of the next day’s issue, spreading over the pages an invigorating and harmless insolence, and their priceless creations that clarified, in a few strokes, the day’s events. Charb was even one day’s editor-in-chief for l’Humanité. ... They were one of us, and we have raised our glasses together more than once. On the weekend of the Fête de l’Humanité at the Courneuve, where their booth, each year, was shared with Cuba Si...<sup>36</sup>

Femen

In a pathetic display of self-negation the bells of Notre Dame Cathedral rang in honour of CH, while the booboisie marched en masse behind the gaggle of the Europe Union's heads of state. In return, the Charlies editorialized in the first issue since the January 7 attack, the issue subsidized by Rothschild, Google, GODF and the French tax payer:

What made us laugh the most is that the bells of Notre Dame rang in our honor. We would like to send a message to Pope Francis—who also was Charlie this week: We will only accept the bells of Notre Dame ringing in our honor when it is Femen who make them ring.” (Femen is the radical feminist group whose members have staged topless demonstrations in several European cathedrals).<sup>37</sup>

Femen is an interesting, but not surprising choice by CH. Their antics go beyond several topless demonstrations in Europe. Founded in the Ukraine in 2008, it is based in Paris. It is an extreme feminist group, calling itself “sextremist,” aimed at faith and tradition, and therefore the type of organization one would expect to be getting backing from the globalist power-elite. The original aim was laudable, opposing the trickery used to lure Ukrainian women abroad and then held as prostitutes. By far the largest component running this white slave trade are Israelis,<sup>38</sup> but Femen notably excludes Israel and Judaism from its protests. As with CH, Femen has been embraced by President Hollande, who chose Femen activist Inna Shevchenko as one of the models for Marianne, the symbol of France of a woman wearing the Jacobin Phrygian cap.<sup>39</sup> However, the funding for the well-paid activists has come from Jed Sunden, a Brooklyn-born Jewish media magnate with newspaper interests in the Ukraine, who gave them their initial publicity in his Kyiv Post. His newspaper, since sold, reports its former owner's involvement, quoting Femen founder Anna Hutsol:

In 2008, when topless protests were a novelty in Ukraine, Hutsol got a call from publisher Jed Sunden, the owner of KP Media. "Jed was the very first influential person who noticed us, helped us with all the resources he had, gave us some useful advice, generously donated and said we were special. Jed was the very first person who helped us in organization's promotion and creation of our website. We used to call him a 'Femen Post' [a play off of the Kyiv Post newspaper, which Sunden sold last year]," Hutsol said. Sunden acknowledged he is more than a fan of Femen. "I confirm that I do give money to Femen," Sunden said. "I will not state the amount. After meeting with Anna Hutsol, I was impressed with her ideas and have been a supporter. I believe Anna is a young, independent voice in Ukraine. While I do not agree with all of her positions, I believe it is important to give her, and groups like hers, support."<sup>40</sup>

While Femen has sought to affront Christians and Muslims, its branch in Israel has been significantly low key, given that Israel is arguably the most patriarchal and misogynistic state in the world despite the brouhaha about Islam. While the "Femen Israel" website depicts topless Femen from the USA and Europe, and a photo captioned "Fuck Sharia, fuck your morals," "Femen Israel" activities within Israel are not evident.<sup>41</sup> Indeed, in 2013 a Femen activist, Amina Sboui, who had been jailed in Tunisia, and hence had been a cause celebre, left Femen, stating it is Islamophobic, and questioned whether there was funding from Israeli sources.<sup>42</sup>

Although Femen does not seem to have acted against an Orthodox or Hasidic synagogue as a citadel of patriarchy,<sup>43</sup> the offensiveness against Christian churches and Mosques is unrestrained. Kyiv

Post, continuing their publicity for Femen, reported in 2013 for example that a Femen disrupted Christmas Mass at Kolner Dom, the main Cathedral in Cologne, climbing topless atop the altar, her body painted with “I am God.”<sup>44</sup> On November 25, 2014, a topless Femen entered Strassbourg Cathedral just prior to the scheduled visit of Pope Francis, dancing atop the altar.<sup>45</sup>

It is certainly understandable why the Charlies are so admiring of Femen, and why President Hollande would choose a Femen to model as Marianne. It is reminiscent of the Jacobin crowning of an actress as “The Goddess of Reason,” who was enthroned atop the altar of Notre Dame and worshipped by the enlightened revolutionists. This is what the Charlies, Hollande, the GODF, Google, NED, U.S. State Department, and so on mean by “Western values,” and the “secular Europe” that has brought out the booboisie across Europe and further afield. When Femen anarchists ring the bells of Notre Dame, as per the Charlie fantasy, then this pathogenic conglomerate of diseased cells on the body of the Western culture-organism will rightly proclaim that their disease has triumphed over the entire world.

[Correction (January 28, 2015): As originally published, this article incorrectly referred to David Horowitz as a Jewish convert to Sufism and a libertarian. It is Stephen Schwartz, not David Horowitz.]

References

<sup>1</sup> In particular through the Congress of Cultural Freedom, a collection of Trotskyites and other anti-Soviet Marxists under the presidency of Socialist intellectual luminary Professor Sidney Hook, and through the auspices of the CIA. See Bolton, Revolution from above (London: Arktos, 2011), pp. 138-143. Frances Stonor Saunders, the Cultural Cold War: The CIA and the World of Arts and Letters (New York: New Press, 2000).

<sup>2</sup> For example, de Gaulle took France out of NATO and SEATO, established an independent nuclear arsenal, and put an arms embargo on Israeli shortly before the 1967 Six Day War.

<sup>3</sup> Bolton, Revolution..., op.cit, pp. 144-200.

<sup>4</sup> the cover illustration can be found at:

http://www.australiamatters.com/cms/wp-content/uploads/hebdo\_jesus\_slander.jpg

<sup>5</sup> Noam Chomsky, "His right to say it," The Nation, February 28, 1981, <http://www.chomsky.info/articles/19810228.htm>

<sup>6</sup> "Charlie Hebdo: Dissolve the Front National,"

<http://galliawatch.blogspot.co.nz/2013/06/charlie-hebdo-dissolve-front-national.html>

<sup>7</sup> Chelsea Regan, January 15, 2015, "French Comedian Dieudonné Mbala Mbala arrested over Facebook post about Paris gunman,"

<http://uinterview.com/news/french-comedian-dieudonne-mbala-mbala-arrested-facebook-post-paris-gunman/>

<sup>8</sup> Olivier Cyran, "Charlie Hebdo Pas Racciste Si Vou Le Dites," Article11, December 2013, <http://www.article11.info/?Charlie-Hebdo-pas-raciste-Si-vous>

<sup>9</sup> Olivier Cyran, ibid.

<sup>10</sup> Olivier Cyran, ibid.

<sup>11</sup> Injured during the January 7 attack on CH offices.

<sup>12</sup> Cyran, op. cit.

<sup>13</sup> A pre-eminent Jewish philosopher in France, with a Leftist background proceeding to the post-Left that converges with U.S. globalism, Henri-Levy called for U.S. intervention in Serbia, and in 2011 against Syria. In 2010, at a conference in Tel Aviv he said of the Israeli Defence Force, "I have never seen such a democratic army. There is something usually vital about Israeli democracy." (Levy, "I have never seen an army as democratic as the IDF," Haaretz, May 30, 2010). Despite his post-Marxist critique, he is a columnist and a Board member for the Leftist newspaper Liberation, owned by Eduard de Rothschild.

<sup>14</sup> "The Twelve's Manifesto: Together Against the New Totalitarianism," L'Express, March 2006.

<sup>15</sup> Olivier Cyran, "La liberté d'expression selon Charlie Hebdo," March 4 2006, <http://lmsi.net/L-opinion-du-Patron>

<sup>16</sup> Olivier Cyran, ibid.

<sup>17</sup> While the Grand Orient de France is not as clear as to its influence as it was a few years ago, its website remains nonetheless quite instructive. Of course, whether one views that influence as negative or positive is a matter of subjective opinion: <http://www.godf.org/>

<sup>18</sup> See Hollande speaking to the GODF at:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aXTvwgTdn-Q>

<sup>19</sup> "Masons killed in Charlie Hebdo attack," Masoneria 357,

<http://masoneria357.com/2015/01/10/masons-killed-in-charlie-hebdo-attack/>

<sup>20</sup> Daniel Keller, Grand Master, Circular of the Grand Master of the GODF January 8, 2015.

<sup>21</sup> Ibid.

<sup>22</sup> "Board of directors of the National Endowment for Democracy issues statement of solidarity with the people of France," NED, January 9, 2015, <http://www.ned.org/ru/node/3333>

<sup>23</sup> "U.S. State Dept., supports Charlie Hebdo magazine's right to publish freely," Sputnik International, January 14 2015, <http://sputniknews.com/politics/20150114/1016863398.html>

<sup>24</sup> "U. S. slams Turkey over ban on publishing Charlie Hebdo cover," Today's Zaman, January 15 2015, http://www.todayszaman.com/diplomacy\_us-slams-turkey-over-ban-on-publishing-charlie-hebdo-cover\_369893.html

<sup>25</sup> "French Government donates $1.2 million to ensure that Charlie Hebdo lives on," Mashable Australia, January 9 2015, <http://mashable.com/2015/01/08/france-charlie-hebdo-donations/>

<sup>26</sup> Tony Cartalucci, "Alliance eof Youth Movements, State Dept., CFR, Google, AT&T...", mediachecker, June 13, 2013, <https://mediachecker.wordpress.com/2013/06/13/alliance-of-youth-movements-state-dept-cfr-google-att/>

<sup>27</sup> "Liberation gives Charlie Hebdo facilities to bring out new edition," The Irish Times, January 10, 2015, http://defaultsearch.nchuser.com/search/web?fcoid=417&fcop=to\_pnav&fpid=2&q=liberation+%2B+charlie+hebdo

<sup>28</sup> Eduard de Rothschild Official Website, http://www.edouard-rothschild.com/index.php?module=itevoCORE&func=viewPub&pt\_name=itevoNEWS&p\_id=14&newlang=eng

<sup>29</sup> Ibid., <http://www.edouard-roth->

schild.com/index.php?module=itevoCORE&func=viewPub&pt_name=itevoNEWS&p_id=15

<sup>30</sup> Matthew Lewis, "Laurent Joffrin," The Republic of Letters, <http://www.republique-des-lettres.fr/10483-laurent-joffrin.php>

<sup>31</sup> "Saint-Simon Foundation," Think Tank Wiki, http://thinktank.wikia.com/wiki/Saint-Simon\_Foundation

<sup>32</sup> Denis Boneau, "The hidden side of the Foundation Saint-Simon," Voltaire Net, <http://www.voltairenet.org/article30261.html>

<sup>33</sup> "The Hague Club," Think Tank Wiki, http://thinktank.wikia.com/wiki/The\_Hague\_Club

<sup>34</sup> "Farewell for 'Charb' the last of the funerals for the Charlie Hebdo attack," Euronews, January 16 2015, <http://www.euronews.com/2015/01/16/farewell-for-charb-the-last-of-the-funerals-of-charlie-hebdo-attack/>

<sup>35</sup> Patrick Le Hyarick, "Barbarians," L'Humanite, January 10, 2015, <http://www.humaniteinenglish.com/spip.php?article2621>

<sup>36</sup> Henry Crapo, Isabelle Métral, "They are one of us," L'Humanite, January 8, 2015, <http://www.humaniteinenglish.com/spip.php?article2618>

<sup>37</sup> "Charlie Hebdo rejects Catholic support," Catholic World News, January 15, 2015, <http://angelqueen.org/2015/01/15/charlie-hebdo-rejects-catholic-support/>

<sup>38</sup> Ted Pike, "Israel whorehouse of the Middle East," <http://www.goodnewsaboutgod.com/studies/political/jews/whorehouse.htm>. R. Hovel, "Three Israelis indicted for importing prostitutes from Ukraine," Haaretz, August 2, 2013, <http://www.haaretz.com/news/national/three-israelis-indicted-for-importing-prostitutes-from-ukraine.premium-1.502212>.

<sup>39</sup> Femen's Inna Shevchenko inspired France's Marianne stamp," BBC News, July 15, 2013.

<sup>40</sup> "Femen wants to move from public exposure to political power," Kyiv Post, April 29, 2010, <http://www.kyivpost.com/content/politics/femen-wants-to-move-from-public-exposure-to-politi-65379.html>

<sup>41</sup> FEMEN Israel, <https://www.facebook.com/pages/FEMEN-Israel/301176549986072>

<sup>42</sup> Umberto Bacchi, "Amina Sboui quits topless protest group Femen over 'Islamophobia and Israeli fujding,'" International business

News, August 20, 2013, <http://www.ibtimes.co.uk/amina-tyler-sboui-leaves-femen-topless-islamophobia-500310>

<sup>43</sup> For Orthodox Jewish attitudes towards women see: Evelyn Kaye, The hole in the sheet: a modern woman looks at Orthodox and Hasidic Judaism (New Jersey: Lyal Stuart, 1987).

<sup>44</sup> "Topless FEMEN activist climbs altar in Cologne cathedral during Christmas mass," Kyiv Post, December 25, 2013, <http://www.kyivpost.com/content/world/topless-femen-activist-climbs-altar-in-cologne-cathedral-during-christmas-mass-334252.html>

<sup>45</sup> "Femen desecrate Strasbourg Cathedral," Gallia Watch, <http://galliawatch.blogspot.co.nz/2014/11/femen-desecrate-strasbourg-cathedral.html>

Foreign Policy Journal

www.foreignpolicyjournal.com

Charlie Hebdo: Where Neocons, Zionists, Masons and Communists Converge

By Kerry R. Bolton

Published: January 27, 2015

URL:

<http://www.foreignpolicyjournal.com/2015/01/27/charlie-hebdo-where-neocons-zionists-masons-and-communists-converge>